New Heart and Vascular Institute Transitional Rehabilitation Unit (HVI-TRU)

The HVI-TRU, a partnership among UPMC Senior Communities, UPMC Rehabilitation Institute, and UPMC's Heart and Vascular Institute, houses a cardiac-specific post-acute care program tailored to complex cardiology and cardiac surgical patients in need of short-term rehabilitation. The newly renovated unit offers 17 private beds. It features specially trained nursing staff, physical and occupational therapy, dietary consultations, dedicated general internal medicine and geriatric physicians, and telemedicine capabilities to allow for HVI physician involvement with patient care.

The unit provides comprehensive, short-term care for patients who have a high risk of readmission with conditions such as heart failure, or those patients who have had transcatheter aortic valve replacement (TAVR), or a range of cardiac surgery procedures. Care managers on the cardiology and cardiac surgery floors at UPMC Presbyterian-Shadyside will have information for patient referral.

To refer your patient to the HVI-TRU at Canterbury Place, as well as the four other TRUs at other UPMC Senior Communities locations, call the Central Admissions Office at 412-688-3900.

UPMC Senior Communities Transitional Rehabilitation Units (TRUs)

UPMC Senior Communities, in partnership with the UPMC Rehabilitation Institute, offers five Transitional Rehabilitation Units (TRUs) with the newest Heart and Vascular Institute TRU also in partnership with UPMC's Heart and Vascular Institute.

Our newly renovated Transitional Rehab Units (TRUs) provide short stay rehabilitation designed to meet the needs of patients being discharged from the hospital but who are not quite ready to return home. Board-certified physicians and specialty-trained therapists help patients recover from surgery, accidents, and illness, and return home more quickly.
