

Jeffrey A. Gusenoff, M.D.

Co-Director, Life After Weight Loss Program

About the Doctor

Dr. Jeffrey Gusenoff is a member of the faculty of the Division of Plastic Surgery at the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center. He is originally from Newton, Massachusetts and completed both his undergraduate and medical degrees at the Johns Hopkins University. He then completed his surgical internship and plastic surgical residency at the University of Rochester, in Rochester NY. After his formal training, Dr. Gusenoff elected to complete a fellowship in Life After Weight Loss surgery and body contouring at the University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh PA.

Dr. Gusenoff was the founder and Director of the University of Rochester Medical Center Life After Weight Loss Program from 2008-2012. The multidisciplinary program aimed to meet the body contouring needs of patients who have changed their lives through significant weight loss. He was recruited by UPMC to join the Division of Plastic Surgery as Co-Director of the Life After Weight Loss Program with Dr. J. Peter Rubin.

Dr. Gusenoff has won numerous academic awards and written several peer-reviewed articles and book chapters, mostly related to body contouring surgical techniques, safety, and social issues. Dr. Gusenoff is also involved in several clinical research projects at the UPMC. He is the Director of the Fellowship in Post-Bariatric Body Contouring and Co-Director of the BodyChangers program, which is a support group to aid in weight loss maintenance.